

Contribution ID: 189

Type: Talk

Identifying metal redox states through low dose measurements for spatially resolved anomalous dispersion refinement

Tuesday, 15 March 2022 09:40 (20 minutes)

Here, we describe the application of Spatially Resolved Anomalous Dispersion (SpReAD) refinement as a method to determine the oxidation state of protein-bound, small metal co-factors through x-ray crystallography, and show the influence of total absorbed dose on these experiments.

Primary authors: Dr LENNARTZ, Frank (Macromolecular Crystallography, Helmholtz-Zentrum Berlin für Materialien und Energie (HZB-MX)); Prof. DOBBEK, Holger (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin); Dr JEOUNG, Jae-Hun (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin); Dr WEISS, Manfred (Macromolecular Crystallography, Helmholtz-Zentrum Berlin für Materialien und Energie (HZB-MX)); Mr RÜNGER, Stefan (Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin)

Presenter: Dr LENNARTZ, Frank (Macromolecular Crystallography, Helmholtz-Zentrum Berlin für Materialien und Energie (HZB-MX))

Session Classification: Methods in Biocrystallography

Track Classification: Main conference: Biologic Structure, Function, Reactivity, and Regulation