

Contribution ID: 100

Type: not specified

Science communication research - what's the big idea?

Tuesday, 30 May 2017 09:30 (30 minutes)

Science communication has become a mature and increasingly active field of research over the past twenty years. Brian Trench will review this history and identify some of the key themes and preoccupations, including in current research. He will consider what science communication research says to practice but also what its potential is as a scientific field.

Presenter: Mr TRENCH, Brian (PCST, University of Dublin, Ireland)

Session Classification: Keynote 4